

SMALLMOUTH FLY FISHING ON THE NEW RIVER

Friday, September 18 thru Sunday, September 20, 2009

Arrive Friday evening for a campfire conversation with guide Jeff Wilkins about smallmouth equipment, flies, strategies, and how to catch 'em. On Saturday Jeff will be on the water to provide instruction and guidance for two 1/2 day sessions (AM & PM). We may have one session on Friday evening and one Sat. morning instead of two on Sat. depending on what folks want.

This is the perfect introduction for new smallmouth fly fishers or folks that need to brush up on their techniques or want to learn from an expert. This group will be limited to 4 anglers each session, as a practical necessity, . . first come - first served.

Cost is only $40 per angler.

EVERYONE IS WELCOME . . . This trip is for everyone! Don't want to work with Jeff, that's ok. Can't get there until Saturday, that's ok. Want to come late or leave early, that's ok

We will convene Friday evening at River Views Campground on the New River near Galax, Virginia (according to MapQuest, this is about a 2 1/2 hour drive from Durham). Jeff will work with his group on Saturday. Otherwise, fish on your own on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday.

The campground has various camping accommodations and a couple of cabins. There are motels in Galax. Everyone is responsible for their own lodging and meals. We may group people together and/or arrange carpooling if you wish. We will have a group dinner Saturday evening. Once we know we have enough people, we will send out more detailed information.

WE NEED TO KNOW three things before we can firm this trip up:

1. Do you want to go?
2. Whether or not you want instruction with Wilkins on Friday or Saturday.
3. Your preference for lodging—tent, campground cabin or motel.

Please respond soon; we need to determine how much interest there is.

Please direct any questions to John Eichorn.
